Beverly Hills' Healthy City Luncheon Oct. 22 To Feature 'Building A Prepared Community'

By Victoria Talbot

Beverly Hills Mayor Lili Bosse brings back her healthy luncheon lecture series on Oct. 22 with a free "lunch and learn" event at the Beverly Hills Municipal Gallery at City Hall on "Building a Prepared Community" with Pamela Mottice Muller, City of Beverly Hills Director of Emergency Management and the Health and Safety Commission.

After an informal light lunch at 11:45 a.m. there will be a presentation on what to do before, during and after a disaster.

The Great California Shake Out, which the City of Beverly Hills participated in yesterday, was a reminder that California is earthquake country.

"Disasters do happen," said Mayor Bosse. "I want everyone to know what they can do to prepare. I believe that a healthy city is a prepared city and this event is part of our ongoing effort to strengthen our ability to respond calmly and recover quickly from an emergency."

The presentation will cover supplies needed to ensure safety; lifesaving actions in the event of a calamity and where to turn for help.

This free lunch-and-learn event will also provide a closer look at the City's ability to mitigate disasters, prepare for them and respond to and recover from such an occurrence.

The event is free; 2-hour free parking is available at the Civic Center parking structure located at 450 Rexford Drive. To learn more about the Beverly Hills Healthy Lunch and Learn series, call (310) 285-2537.
